

wording. Each cell is the share of a system's answers to that profile that settle on one candidate, days averaged within prompt and then prompts; the last column weights the eleven systems equally.